Gaining Vision For Your Marriage!

What is holding your marriage together, children, ministry, being a Christian, or the life giving principle of living out a vision for your marriage?

A life-giving marriage is essential to your success.

Where are you as a couple?

Have you ever wondered why you keep doing the same things over and over again in a marriage, yet yearn for different results? Perhaps your marriage is perishing, because there is a lack of vision. Helplessly we stay trapped in the cycles of pain and disappointment, hoping somehow things will just get better. Sadly, hope deferred makes the heart sick. Vision gives you hope and purpose. Core-values are the glue that keep you headed in a direction of prosperity in marriage. What core-values do you use as a couple to make decisions?

Where are you going?

It is likely that you covenanted together to love, cherish, and honor in sickness and health until death do you part. That's great, but what vision do you have besides having a house and 2.5 kids behind the picket fence? Where will you be when the children are gone or retirement sets in? A marriage vision provides direction until death do us part. Do you know your spouse's hopes, dreams and vision for life? If we were to interview your spouse could they tell us what your hopes, dreams and vision for life are?

How will you get there?

Our marriage vision principles will also strengthen your leadership ability and help you to impart life and direction to those who follow you. Perhaps the vision for your church or business is being held back by dysfunctional marriages? Invest your time in this life-changing encounter and you will realize an increase in your effectiveness not only in your home, but in your leadership responsibilities. In what ways is your marriage influencing those with whom you relate? How are the marriages of others influencing you?

Together, let's find answers to:

- What is the vision for your marriage?
- What does it take to sustain and nurture vision for a healthy marriage?
